We work with you, your College and your department to make adjustments so you can participate fully in university life.

To do this, we provide confidential advice on the support available at the University for disabled students.

We can also:

- Arrange diagnostic assessments for students who may have specific learning difficulties;
- Carry out needs assessments for students who have applied for Disabled Students Allowances;
- Arrange support workers such as SpLD tutors, note takers and mentors;
- Help with organising exam arrangements.

Many students eligible for support through the Disability Advisory Service never think of themselves as disabled. However, students we work with, both at undergraduate and graduate level, include those with:

- Specific learning difficulties (SpLDs) such as dyslexia and dyspraxia.
- Asperger syndrome / Autism Spectrum Disorder
- Mobility impairments
- Mental health conditions such as depression, anxiety, bipolar disorder and eating disorders
- Sensory impairments
- Chronic health conditions such as diabetes, epilepsy and chronic fatigue syndrome

If you are unsure if you would be eligible, please get in touch and we will be very happy to advise.

Please get in touch to discuss your individual circumstances, either by email, telephone or in person.

The team is available all year around on weekdays from 9am to 5pm.

Information provided to the Disability Advisory Service is kept confidential to the service.

It is only passed on to the rest of the University with your consent, and then only to ensure that the support and adjustments you have agreed to are put in place.
