Floreat*: A Balliol College Access Programme for Year 12 Students

Launch Event: Wednesday 8th March 2017

Balliol College, Oxford University, is launching an academic programme for students in London. Following a successful pilot in 2015/16, Floreat will offer around 20 Year 12 students from state schools<sup>1</sup> the opportunity to engage with Oxford-style teaching in the humanities, as part of a full 6-month academic programme.

The year will include academic seminars, led by Oxford University representatives and hosted after school hours in Southwark, London; a five-day residential summer school at Balliol College, Oxford; and advice and support ahead of making applications to university in Year 13.

This opportunity is being offered free of charge and will suit bright students who are interested in studying a broad arts/humanities programme at a top university and keen to engage with academic material outside their school curriculum.

Come and hear more about this exciting programme at our launch event:
